THE CALIFORNIA MAILS TO BE DESPATCHED VIA

On account of the telegraphic despatch received from Salt Lake City yesterday from Mr. Holliday, one of the owners of the Overland Mail Company, stating that all the Indians ing further military protection for the overland route, the tmaster General has thought it prudent to send the time since, when the road was injured by floods. Mr Vanderbilt and the company having arrived at an ami-cable arrangement in the matter. Nothing has been heard of outbreaks by other tribes than the Sioux and the Chippewas, and it is to be hoped that the voluntee sota may wipe out the insurrection in its in ception. There may be a trouble about arms, while unfortunately, all the Indians have arms, that are sup plied them by the government.

Brigadier General Stone is here. It is not a little etrange that up to this time he has not been furnished with a copy of the allegations and charges made against him. He obeyed the order of imprisonment as a mili-tary order emanating from a superior officer, and likewise' in obedience to a similar order, reported himself at Wash ington when set at liberty. As a soldier he has obeyed orders, without knowing why he was imprisoned, or to what duty he is now to be assigned.

It is stated that the rebei prisoners recently sent South particularly those who were confined at Fort Dela-ware, intend to-publish a complaint in regard to their treatment in prison. Their object is to get up a counter treatment by the rebels. These fellows will be obliged to sacrifice every shadow of truth to find any cause of complaint, and their imaginations must be fertile indeed in they can conceive any parallel to the barbarous hospi-

THE EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS. It has been accertained that we have in our possession a very large excess of prisoners over the number of our own mon in the hands of the rebels. This applies to both officers and enlisted men. In pursuance of the agreement for a general exchange, General Thomas has forwarded to the South about fourteen thousand rebel prisoners officers and privates. This will leave a large balance to our credit in the exchange account.

CONTRABANDS FLOCKING TO WASHINGTON. Contrabands are flocking to this district in great num bers-in wagons, on horseback and on foet. About hal the number are little children. Most of the rest are wo men and old men. Sumner, Wilson and Company are now needed here, to receive them on the highways, find qua - - for them, and see to it that they are suitably fee, clothed and schooled. Seriously, when one sees how

m ch trouble a few dozens or hundreds of these people make, the question comes, ugavoidably, how can the government undertake to manage three or four millions of them? So far as armed negroes are concerned, it is suggested that they be sent against the Indians.

ARRIVAL OF COL. ALDER, LATE OF THE REBEL ARMY. phus H. A'der, late a colonel of engineers in the rebel service. At the beginning of the war he was upon the staff of Henry A. Wise, in his Western Virginia cam paign, but resigned and refused to re-enter the rebel offered high rank in the rebel army. For this reason he was arrested and imprisoned, with many of the Union officers and John Minor Botts and ther prominent men of Virginia. About two weeks ago he made his ascape, and by a circuitous route reached our lines on foot, and was directed to report to Washington. He possesses valuable information in regard to the fore position and condition of the enemy.

Gen. Premont in Pavor of the Imm. ediate Abolition of Stavery. Boston, August 28, 1862.

The meeting to-night to hear General Fremost

one of the greatest demonstrations known in this city. Tremout Temple was crowded an hour before the time, and when the General appeared the waving of hats and handkerchiefs and cheering were long continued. Mestings in the lower hall and street were held at the same General Fremont referred to the imp vigorous measures for recruiting; regretted differences of opinion which caused any lack of unity among the people, and expressed conflicence that Massachusetts, true to her past history in rocking the cradle of liberty, will not fail in all her efthat recruiting was going on well, he indulged himself in the pleasure of feeling that the object of the meeting was remain at home. Among these duties it was claimed was the right of the people to debate the character of all vital institutions. Having derived our free institutions purity, make known their wishes in regard to their perpetuation, and how to act so as best to restore them to posterity on an imperish-able foundation. Republican institutions were at stake, not only in this country, but throughout the werld, for the human good. Although a soldier, he was not les his epinions, craving indulgence if he spoke of himself or of his individual experience. Six years ago in Congress in common with his hearers, he held the opinion that slavery should not be extended beyond its existing limits. In Missouri, a year ago, he declared the slaves of rebels free. This was done because it was believed to be the rebellion, and the quickest mode of obtain ing the greatest advantage at the slightes cost. This was the legitimate exercise of pro-consular power. Later he became satisfied that with success must adopt some measure by which it must cease as a political power and as a social fact. The events of the war showed that there could be no lasting peace while slavery exists apart, and solely with a view to suppress the rebellion e was in favor of the immediate abolition of slavery dition should be effected so as to deprive enemy of his great means of resistance. Wherever believed the Unionists of the South would be ready to make sacrifices. It was his belief, however, that there were not so many Unionists at the South as had been supposed, and the number is decreasing. The danger of their position and the uncestainty of the success of the government had produced this unanimity. In the whole valley of Virginia there was not a Union man, and he was certain not a Union man, and he was certain not a Union woman. With them it was now a question tody as to the manner of separation. The Northern people did not realize how long the Southern people have been preparing for disuntion. Beforence was made to disuntion checked by Genéral Jackson, and Calhoun dying a defeated robel, leaving behind legions of young men educated to the same views, and in the belief that they were lighting for their liberties. They were united and determined in their rebellion, and to meet them successfully every advantage must be employed. Their determination must be made impossibility, and only by unity among ourselves. To secure this unity we must arouse curselves to extraordinary coloris, and by watching the movements of the enemies in our midst. While the people are engaged in their loyal duties to seartain the government a pro-slavery party is steatihily organizing for a victory, of which they already feel as sured. There must be individual laber to secure that unity, and the soldiers on the battle field must be sustained by labors at home. Concessions call be made and advantages given up, if for the present generation alone, but it was tor a long line of generations we are to fight these battles; and we are to accept the time with all its obligations. The light, is for the future safety of the country. General Fremont testified to the cheerfulness with which the volunteers endure? bardships; and while the people had given their choicest treasures, he asked, will they hesitate to strike with a vital force, which shall prove effectual, and when the our of battle goes on let the soldiers feel, if they fail, Ridgely yesterday. The Adjutant General of Minnesota issued an order to the commanding officers to seize all horses and means of transportation necessary, on giving a receipt to owners. The massacre does not seem con ned to one locality, but spread over a vast amount of persons killed at Lake Shitik, sixty miles southwest of New Uim; but these reports are undoubtedly exaggerated, many persons having fled or secreted themselves, who are proba bly supposed to be killed.

We have received a letter from Henry Auborn, of Nor-wich, Conn., who was one of the wagon masters under the rebel General Twiggs at the inauguration of this re beilion. Subsequently he was forced to remain with the vices. After tolling for several months, and finding that the rebels would not pay him as they agreed, he, in company with several associates (Northern men), planned their escape, having first provided themselves with arms and ammunition. The party took San Antonio as the initial point of their departure for the loyal States, starting about the 1st of June last, and, after several weeks journeying through the prairies of the Southwestern country, reached Fort Leavenworth. Before they reached there they had a brush with a party of Indians, in which on of the party, John Hurst, of Charlestown, Mass., was shot brough the heart by an arrow and died. The decease leaves a wife and family at the above named place. He had on his person $157 27, which is now in possession of the relator of this narrative.

Interesting From Cumberland Gap.

The Democrat's correspondent from Cumberland Gaps evening of the 23d, has arrived and reports:— The Union troops are in excellent health and spirits' and eager for a fight, with an abundance of provisions for sixty days. Every few days our troops send our foraging parties, sometimes numbering a hundred wagons, into Powell's valley, Tenn., who invariably return loaded, the foragers always driving such rebeaway as they may meet. The correspondent says the federals can hold the Gap against any force; that the rebels do not mean strack but think they can starve the Union forces out The number of rebels this side of the Gan is estimated

20,600 to 30,000, trying to join Cerro Gordo Williams. On Friday last Col. LETTER PROM PARSON BROWNLOW I have two letters from Caremanti, dated the 25th instand one of the writers is a clergyman. The news given in 6 is this, and the writer was directly from the Gasescaping through the woods in part, and with great difficulty:—

When I left a considerable force of the enemy was in front of the Gap, while one regiment of rebel cavairy has possession of Barboursville, and eight regiments of infantry occupied Fiat Lick, only twenty miles from the Gap. It will require great efforts and prompt action to save our men from being cut to pieces or forced to surrender. My heart sickens over the miserable management of our authorities at the Gap,

A second letter states these items:—
Our army is surrounded at the Gap, and if not speedily relieved will be out to pieces. Ashby's cavairy are at Barboursville; a heavy force is coming through Wilson's Gap and emcontrating at Flat Lick, only twenty miles from Cumberland Gap, while our supplies are cut off. Such management is disgraceful.

Governor Morton, of Indiana, sent a large force to the Gap, and these were detained at lexington, not even dreaming of their want at the Gap. But a short time since eight hundred Fast Tennessee Unionists and fifty North Carefinians made their way to the Gap and entered the federal servito. To think of these poor fellows being cut to pieces is too bad.

I have been for mot the disgosted with the management of affairs in Kentucky and Tennessee, and I have this day started a mersenger to Washington, with a letter to Secretary Staaton, making known this state of Unings, August 27, 1862.

The total amount of the subscriptions received by the General yesterday, towards raising his Irish Legion, was sixteen hundred dollars.

The total amount of the subscriptions received by the General yesterday, towards raising his Irish Legion, was sixteen hundred dollars.

Foremest among the subscribers was the patriotic carman, Michael Currkin, who promptly produced the ene hundred dollars in specie which he promised in his specie at the great monster meeting in the Park on Wednesday hast. Mr. Curran's generosity is worthy of all praise, and it is hoped will be imitated by others in his station. General Corcoran wrote a suitable letter of acknowledgment, which will be found in another column. Mr. Samuel N. Heyt, of No. 19 South street, sent a check to General Corcoran for $500, in aid of the brigadg. Mr Whilam Tilden also subscribed the mainifeent sum of $1,000.

About noon Gen. Corcoran heid a private conference with the officers of the Saxty-ninth regiment relative to the re-enlistment of that gallant corps for the war. Nearly all the officers, with the exception of Colonel Ragley were present, and expressed themselves as decidedly in faver of returning, under the leadership of their former Colonal.

also arriving in considerable numbers at Dallas, some of them complaining of unexpected hardships on the plains. The people of Oregon continue exalted over the mining General Blunt's Expedition Against the Rebels in Missouri.

LEAVENWORTH, KADSUS, August 27, 1862. Hon. E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War, Washington Major Champion Vaug'um, of General Slant's staff, has arrived at these han quarters with despat hes. General Biunt marched with fifteen hondred mon from Fort Lone Jack. The enemy declined an engagement, and commenced a retreat. They were holly pursued by General Blunt, and driven in atter confusion across the Osage, with the loss of all transportation and equipments

besides numerous arms, prisoners, &c. It is considered that the expedition saved the Miss striking terror into the hearts of the enemy as far as the Arkansas line, General Blunt's colemn returned to Fort Scott on th 22d, having marched nearly three hundred miles in six it is not improbable that the main force of the rebels will be forced to surrender.
